Körber acquires enVista's omnichannel and global freight audit and payment services

Hamburg (ots) -

Körber, an international technology group, has signed an agreement to purchase enVista's platform of Enspire Commerce™ omnichannel solutions, including its order management system (OMS), and its freight audit and payment (FAP) service. enVista's capabilities expand Körber's portfolio to enable businesses to deliver upon ever-increasing consumer expectations in today's highly competitive omnichannel landscape.

Meeting today's consumer expectations requires digitization and integrated processes from order capture through final delivery. With this acquisition, Körber becomes a single, global provider of omnichannel commerce, fulfillment, and transportation software. By combining Körber's unique depth of software with enVista, organizations have a simple, compelling means of aligning and digitizing commerce and supply chain operations end-to-end.

"This acquisition is a great extension of our existing product portfolio and another important milestone towards our ambition to become a global supply chain software champion! At the same time, with more than 400 new colleagues and experts around the world, we are also substantially strengthening our footprint to further support our customers globally!", said Stephan Seifert, Chief Executive Officer at Körber Group. "We also see that our strategic cooperation with KKR - concluded in March 2022 - is already showing initial success, and we are all excited to go forward!" This announcement follows KKR's acquisition of a significant minority stake in Körber's supply chain software business in March 2022.

"Körber is the trusted fulfillment and distribution technology partner for thousands of organizations worldwide," said Chad Collins, Chief Executive Officer Software at Körber Business Area Supply Chain. "Acquiring enVista's commerce platform enables our customers to manage the life cycle of the order from multiple demand sources and network-wide inventory. The freight audit and payment service provides a single source of visibility and tracking typically not available in ERP or TMS solutions."

enVista's order management system (OMS), part of the Enspire Commerce platform, enables order visibility across channels and actionable data. These capabilities are heightened when in tandem with Körber's fulfillment solutions. As a result, customer demands are met in real time. enVista's freight audit and payment (FAP) services will complement the businesses' OMS and WMS capabilities to provide unparalleled new levels of last-mile profitability, control, intelligence, and customer experience. By providing a single source of transportation visibility while simultaneously optimizing and governing transportation spend, enVista and Körber empower tomorrow's supply chains to fully unlock the value of their transportation activities.

"Leading retailers, distributors and brands realize commerce and supply chain solutions must integrate and digitize" said Jim Barnes, CEO at enVista. "Our next-generation omnichannel commerce and FAP solutions, combined with Körber's order fulfillment capabilities, deliver the seamless omnichannel brand experiences consumers expect. Körber's global sales, implementation and support capabilities will strengthen enVista offerings, providing new levels of value, competitive advantage and market momentum. I look forward to bringing my 30 years of experience in supply chain and commerce to the team."

The transaction is subject to customary closing conditions and regulatory approvals.
